Retirement Investing and Drawdown Made Simple

Join us for a workshop designed for those just entering retirement and those on the cusp. If you have a 401(k), 403(b), IRA, Roth, or similar account, this workshop teaches you simple methods to maintain control over your own money. We examine three ways to manage your retirement investments and withdrawal strategy using low-cost mutual funds at a discount broker. The workshop includes a demonstration of how commissions and fees for advice can devour a significant portion of your portfolio. It also shows how improper management of your asset allocation can sacrifice performance that impacts prosperity. To address both issues, we teach two simple and effective techniques to manage your own portfolio and withdrawals, plus a hybrid approach that utilizes a professional system to supplement your own maintenance at a discount broker. We also cover the pros and cons of each method. With all three, you can save thousands of dollars per year versus hiring an advisor to handle the portfolio. By attending, you will gain confidence and expertise in managing your own retirement portfolio. You will go home with a framework to calculate yearly withdrawals and re-balance investments using the self-directed methods.
